

Journalism and Democracy Project A Seldom Seen Students' View on News of our World

ACS Athens, in collaboration with Newscoop, proudly presents a mini-documentary
on the Israeli/Palestinian Struggle

April 19, 2010, 2:00 pm at the ACS Athens Arts Center
129 Aghias Paraskevis Street, Halandri
Admission FREE

Discussion will follow the screening | Moderated by: SKAI Anchor Sia Kosioni

Students today are faced with a barrage of information on the Internet. While most students are comfortable using the web as a primary resource, there is great concern for the reliability, validity and objectivity of information found in its pages. Furthermore, the perspective of young people is often lost or missing in media broadcasts.

This event is designed to showcase ACS Athens students' work on a project that offered them a great opportunity to explore, learn about and report on a highly contested issue by researching, writing and producing a video documentary aimed at portraying a fair and unbiased view of the Israeli-Palestinian struggle.

At ACS Athens, students are tackling today's contemporary problems and current events through the creation of short documentaries and news pieces. The intention of the partnership with Newscoop is to revolutionize the way students access and share news-related information. The documentary is created 100% from the ground up, with the students researching, writing scripts, filming and editing video. The students received support and advice from Newscoop via the extensive list of professionals who support this endeavor.

Contact Information: Anna Velivasaki, 210-6393200 x264, www.acs.gr, acs@acs.gr

An ACS Athens/Newscoop Collaboration

About ACS Athens:

ACS Athens is a student-centered international school, embracing American educational philosophy, principles and values, which has served the children of the American, international and local communities in Athens since 1945.

About Newscoop:

Founded out of Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government, Newscoop is creating an educational online news laboratory that empowers young people around the world as responsible consumers and producers of news in this age of the internet.

Communication sponsored by:

